Reports

Choose a period and what goes in, then print. Whatever you leave out is named on the cover of the report itself, so the person you hand it to can see the shape of what they were given.

Period and title

Sections

Response to a regulator or auditor

The record of notices, decisions, rights handling, incidents and the audit trail behind them.

Internal control review

Where the data is, who else touches it, and what is recorded as not covered or unverified.

A preset is an ordered selection of the same sections. Adjust it below; nothing a preset shows is unavailable to a manual selection.

Period and title

Report title From  To Leave the dates empty for everything on record. A period narrows the sections that are about events; it does not narrow configuration.

The print view supports up to 2,000 rows in each section. If a section is larger, the report is refused as incomplete; choose a shorter period where the section supports dates. A large-data export is not available in this build.

Build this report

• Ready to print

Save as PDF

Opens the print dialog: choose “Save as PDF” as the destination. The builder above is hidden in print; what follows is the report.

Or take the tables as spreadsheets:

Download every section as CSV

A CSV carries the table and nothing else. The period, the scope, the sections left out and each section’s caveats live in the printed report, so a spreadsheet on its own is not the record — which is why the report digest is in every filename. Formula-like values are prefixed as text; check them again if a spreadsheet edits and re-saves the CSV.

What this report is, and is not

Each section below is a table of what this installation recorded. None of it is an opinion about whether any legal obligation has been met, and there is no field in this report in which such a conclusion could be written.

- Every section is a table of what this installation recorded. None of it is an opinion about whether an obligation has been met, and there is no field in which this report could say that it had.
- Sections left out are named on the cover with why. A report assembled from a subset is still a report about a subset, and the reader is told which one.
- A section withheld for authority was not read. It is not empty, and it is not evidence that there was nothing to show.
- Figures are read when the report is generated. A record created after that moment appears the next time it is run.
- This product renders the report; the operator saves it as PDF from the browser. Nothing here produced or signed a binary file.
- A section above 2,000 rows is refused rather than silently shortened. Narrow the period where the section supports one; larger complete exports need a separate supported path.

Sections not included

These exist and are not in this report:

- Personal data inventory — not selected for this report.
- Processors and other fiduciaries — not selected for this report.
- Incidents and intimations — not selected for this report.
- Audit trail — not selected for this report.
- Audit retention — not selected for this report.

What this section does not tell you

- A published notice is the exact version a person was shown. A notice showing no itemisation was published before this product recorded it, and its items were never captured rather than being empty.
- This lists what was published. It does not assess whether the wording of any notice is adequate.

2. Consent decisions

Every consent decision a data principal made in the period, as recorded at the moment it was accepted.

What this section does not tell you

- A decision is recorded once and never edited. A later decision supersedes an earlier one without removing it, so the same person may appear more than once.
- Identifiers of the people who decided are deliberately not printed. This is a record of decisions, not a list of individuals.

3. Rights requests

Requests data principals made under the rights this Act provides, and where each one stands.

What this section does not tell you

- The rights listed are the ones this Act provides: access, correction, erasure, grievance and nomination. A right from another regime would not appear because this product does not record one.
- A response window is whatever the organisation configured with its stated source. This product ships no statutory deadline of its own.

4. Coverage gaps

What this installation records as not covered, not verified, or outside what it can act on.

Nothing was recorded for this section in this period. This is an absence of records, not a statement that nothing happened.

0 recorded gap(s), of which 0 are not resolved.

Download this section as CSV

What this section does not tell you

- A gap is recorded when somebody notices it. An empty section means none has been recorded, which is a different fact from full coverage.
- A gap accepted as a risk is a decision somebody took. It is not a gap that was closed.

5. Operational readiness

Whether this installation could carry a privacy decision through to a system able to act on it, reported as separate facts rather than one status.

Question	Answer
Policies published	30
